The programs arranged for the graduating class under direction of Superintendent Lawson, were not only ary standpoint, but were unique in the There being thirty-two members of bility for each member to be assigned a place on the program for an essay or oration. Hence the necessity arose for devising a program that would bring each member of the class prominently before the audience that none may be slighted and no feelings hurt. Superintendent Lawson, his faculty and the class members were, as they always are, equal to the occasion, and their success can be vouched for by all who were present at both occasions. Each graduate appeared before the audience, each did splendidly and the programs were so cleverly arranged that the graduates themselves. their parents and friends were all satisfied. To do this in a class the is a work of art and shows executive ability of a high order.

The Eagle congratulates the young ladies and young gentlemen who are today leaving High School and are going out to the institutions of higher learning and into the broader activities of life. You have done a good work, you have laid a sure foundation. May all the promises the future holds out to you, find fruition in Much Pork is in Sight.

Prospects for a good pork production are said to be excellent. Last fall the pork was poor in quality and quantity. In the winter of 1914-15 the government advised that all pigs in good condition be slaughtered and the meat preserved. This was done. but in many cases the meat was so poorly cured, owing to a lack of competent help, that it spoiled by the thousands of tons. The question now is whether it will be possible to obtain the foodstuffs necessary to bring this year's hogs to a good weight. A good potato crop would greatly facilitate this, as also would more Indian corn from Roumania, which, it is believed, can be obtained. An improvement in the pork situation would also ease the shortage on fat in the empire, which is felt almost more than the shortage of meat. The necessity for an ample supply of animal fat has never been felt so by the people as by the Germans at pres-

There has been a slight improvement in the milk and butter situation, but it is considered out of the question that these articles again will be easily obtainable until several months after the war.
